

FCC,

I am a subscriber to XM satellite radio services and am really concerned that you would consider dictating to a company what it can and cannot broadcast. This is an infringement upon the first admendment. I for one hardly, if ever, listen to local radio stations when in my automobile and when travelling I must rely on XM for not only entertainment but the weather and traffic in the area. I for one am not happy with the local radio stations and I travel a lot. On XM, I can instantly find out the weather and traffic in the locale I happen to be visiting. Pls do not let big business dictate what I listen too and who delivers it.
